Now she'll pay any price to keep her kids, as she tortures herself with plastic surgery and bizarre diets

Melora Hardin is part of TV's funniest odd couple with Steve Carell on NBC's The Office. Their hilariously tortured relationship is taking a new direction this season — now that Melora's character, Jan, has lost her job, she's shacking up with Steve's character, Michael. Melora is also making movie fans laugh in the big-screen comedy The Comebacks, as well as co-starring with Katherine Heigl in the upcoming film 27 Dresses. And she recently moved behind the camera, directing her husband, Gildart Jackson, daughter Rory, 6, and famous friends Joely Fisher ('Til Death) and Brenda Strong (Desperate Housewives) in the independent film You. Melora, 40, posed in some sexy officewear and spoke to OK!.

What's new on The Office this season?

Michael and Jan are cohabitating. It's very scary! Jan is trying her hand at being a homemaker and is very clumsy at it.

Why does she continue sticking with Michael?

Because he's shameless about how much he adores her. Most men are intimidated by her, so it's nice for her to have a man who crashes through her

Just another day at The Office for Jan and the world's most annoying boss.
